contacted a Kansas realtor initially, but in the meantime, the Debtors indicated they would like to keep the property in the family. Debtors owned 50% of the land with an uncle. At a rough fair market value of $59,000, the trustee agreed to accept $20,000 lump sum payment for their share of the property. This appears to be a fair value given the certainty of a lump sum payment, and avoiding additional costs and administrative expenses associated with real estate sales, along with issues regarding a co-owner who does not want to sell the property. Other noteworthy items that appear on the docket is the activity surrounding the Debtor's former homestead. Comerica filed to lift stay, and trustee originally objected; however, after a review of the property by a realtor, it was determined that there would be little to no equity for the estate. Trustee withdrew the objection and stay was lifted. An adversary was filed, case #09-04206 with IRS: Agreed Judgement docket #9, dated 02/19/2010. Tax returns completed, signed, and mailed to IRS on 02/24/11. Claims objections filed and order granted in mid 2011.
